COUNCIL BRIEFS

URGENT HOUSING REQUEST

Dr Ajit Requires minimum 3 Bedroom house urgently so his family can join him here in Kojonup. If suitable housing is not found our Doctor may have to consider settling in Katanning which is not ideal as our Hospital will no longer have emergency coverage.

Please contact the Shire President on 0429206506 if you are able to help.

POTTS FLAG EVENT

Plans for the unveiling of the Brigadier Potts Flag are progressing well but there is still opportunity for further community involvement – Urgently seeking assistance for our Commemorative Display and if you have any memorabilia including photographs, diary entries, stories or would like to put together a childrens project or artwork related to Brigadier Potts, Kokoda Track we would love to hear from you. Volunteer helpers to assist with the catering and set up are also welcomed. Let's make this a true Community Event as we celebrate the life and achievements of Brigadier Potts. If you are able to assist please contact either Heidi Tyler or Zahra Shirazee on 9831 0500 or email mkpp@kojonup.wa.gov.au Most importantly, you are all invited to attend this important community event on 12 April commencing at 11:30am at the Memorial Hall. To assist with catering please rsvp to Lorraine Wyatt

WA CENTENARY OF ARMISTICE TOUR 2018

The Western Australian Centenary of Armistice Tour 2018 is a new initiative by Government which will enable a group of young people to travel to France to increase their knowledge of the World War One Armistice.

Up to eight young people aged from 18 to 25 years will be chosen to undertake a tour of key historical sites on the Western Front in November. The Tour is a unique opportunity for young people to develop self-confidence, exchange ideas and share experiences with other participants, as well as developing global citizenship.

Applicants should demonstrate a specific interest in or connection to the Centenary of Armistice and applications from all eligible young Western Australians are encouraged. To apply or to find out more, visit the Centenary of Armistice Tour page on the Department of Communities website.

Applications close at 5.00pm on Friday 6 April 2018.

ANNUAL ELECTORS MEETING – CALL FOR AGENDA ITEMS

The Shire is formulating the agenda for the Annual Meeting of Electors and would like to invite interested community members to submit questions in advance for inclusion onto the agenda. Rather than waiting for the meeting, submitting your item for inclusion onto the agenda enables a thorough and detailed answer to be researched and enables all meeting attendees the time to consider the issue prior to the meeting. A formal notice of the time and date of the Annual Electors Meeting will be announced in the coming weeks.

SPORTING COMPLEX UPDATE

In the last Edition of the ENews, the Shire reported on the recent issues which have arisen with regards to significant urgent works required at the sporting complex that will impact on scheduled games and events. Community representatives were then invited to a consultative meeting held at the Shire Administration Building, with the Shire President Cr Ronnie Fleay and the Acting Chief Executive Officer, Anthony Middleton.

As previously outlined, a Surveyor and Consulting Engineer have been engaged to undertake detailed planning and design of corrective work required to address drainage and pedestrian access between the lower level (pool, change rooms and hockey) and upper levels (Oval and Club Rooms).

The scope of the works to be undertaken requires a temporary pedestrian access ramp to be installed. After considering the meetings feedback and subsequent on-site visits, this has been constructed on the western side of the complex, adjacent to the hockey building and football dug-outs. This ramp will provide a pedestrian link between the upper and lower levels at a more practical location and signage will shortly be installed to highlight these changed access arrangements and ideal parking locations.

Following the consultation with user groups, the Council adopted design plans for the remedial (and upgrade) works at its meeting held 20 March 2018. Major components include:

- The current concrete ramp from the change rooms to the oval will be twice as wide and converted to stairs to meet building compliance requirements;
- A new concrete ramp constructed linking the oval, hockey & change rooms;
- Relocate the bulk gas bottles toward the change rooms;
- Construct a retaining wall adjacent to the squash courts providing a footpath and flat viewing area at the oval level (west of the existing deck); and
- Reposition the western cul-de-sac to the area adjacent to the old wind sock.

Sporting Complex user groups will be kept informed as these upgrade works progress. The Shire is aware this will cause inconvenience to all users as we enter the winter sports season and we are working urgently to implement a permanent solution.

For further information about temporary pedestrian access and parking arrangements, please refer to the attached map. Please share this map with all users of the sporting complex, especially visiting sporting teams, to ensure a safe environment for all.

VOLUNTEER AWARDS "SAVE THE DATE"

The last week of May is "National Volunteer Week" and the Shire of Kojonup will be hosting a High Tea on Sunday, 27 May for all residents of Kojonup to come together to recognise the dedicated volunteers of our great community.

Nomination forms are available from a variety of locations and online from the Shire website. The closing date is 23 April 2018.

Kind regards
Ronnie Fleay
President

LIBRARY NEWS

SPYDUS is working well, and the 'almost due notices' have been well received by our patrons. It is completely system generated...The girls and I are certainly not that clever... yet! We have had a new exchange and managed to add those new books to our shelves for our patrons to browse and enjoy.

A Smart Start; Toilet Training session will be held on 28 March from 2.00pm at the Playgroup Building. Children are welcome, and Colleen (Co-ordinator) and I will be watching over them. There will also be a couple of activities for children to participate in. Please contact the library for your RSVP on 9831 2412.

A huge thankyou to the Playgroup for their interest in helping to run programs for our Community. We will be running 'Wiring Kids; Building Stronger Resilient Children' in mid-May and also running a 'PPP Parenting Program' in term 3. Very exciting. It's been nothing but fun at Play Café! Painting, gluing, playing, stories, decorating Easter Biscuits!!

SPRINGHAVEN LODGE

We had the pleasure of Mr Jim McGregor playing the bagpipes on Friday as we celebrated St Patrick's Day.

As it so happened Mrs Jean Haig was also celebrating her birthday and she was lucky enough to have "Happy Birthday" played to her on the bagpipes.

Having the bagpipes played made this a really special event for our residents.

Albany Rock and Roll Dancers also came and danced up a storm last weekend. This show was much appreciated and loved by all the residents.

Cathy, our OTA will be leaving us at the end of the month and the staff and residents really want to thank her for the amazing job she has done since joining us last year. Her enthusiasm will be missed along with all the wonderful guests and events she has organised since joining the team. We wish her well with her future endeavours.

If you have a special talent or would like to come and have a yarn please join us for a cuppa at 10am each morning or contact the facility on 98312800.

If you think you have what it takes to make a difference to an older person's day and are interested in arranging activities look out for our advertisement for an Activities Coordinator at the facility.

LANDCARE UPDATE

PEST MANAGEMENT WORKSHOP 4TH APRIL 2018

Kojonup Landcare in co-ordination with the Wagin Woodanilling Landcare Zone through the DPIRD Recognised Biosecurity Group and Transforming Regional Biosecurity Response Project will be hosting a Pest Management Workshop:

Where: Jingalup Tennis Club

When: Wednesday 4th April 2018

Time: 9am to 1pm

Cost: FREE, morning tea and lunch provided

RSVP: for catering purposes to Annabelle- 0438 910 965 or Jane- 0428 712 050

Topics include: Trapping, Foxes, Feral Pigs, 1080 Baiting, Rabbits, K5 Virus & Biological Control and more.

Dr Peter Adams and DPIRD Biosecurity officer Jason Dearle who will join forces to present their knowledge and understanding of a number of current pest species and best management practice for their control.

There will be hands on practical experience with pest trapping and baiting techniques and the floor will be open to questions and discussion throughout the morning.

There will be pig traps set up outside and Mr Dearle will go over the different techniques to best catch and dispatch feral pigs, foxes and cats.

If there is anything in particular you are interested or wanted to hear more about we could request it for you before the event. We look forward to seeing you there!

For more information, please contact your NRM/Landcare Officer, Jane Kowald, 98310291 or landcare@kojonup.wa.gov.au.

WEED OF THE FORTNIGHT: CALTROP

Common Name: Caltrop

Scientific Name: Tribulus terrestris

Physical Description: Caltrop has long and wiry trailing stems. They are covered with fine hairs. The stems lie prostrate on the ground, radiating from a central taproot. The leaves consist of several leaflets arranged opposite each other on the stems. The leaves are fern-like and greyish-green. The flowers are small, less than 1cm in diameter, and yellow with five petals.

Control Methods:

- The recommended method of control for small infestations on farms is 2,4-D amine (625g/L) at the rate of 2.5mL/L of water in a knapsack sprayer and 2.4L/ha of 2,4-D amine for large paddock infestations.
- Often further treatment for new germinations is necessary after each summer rainstorm.
- Where applied on house blocks near trees or in areas to be used for gardens the non-residual foliar herbicides should be used. In these areas, glyphosate may be the best option for control.

DISCLAIMER: Read the manufacturer's labels and material safety data sheet before using any herbicides. Control options are suggestions only. Mention of trade names does not imply endorsement or preference of any company's product and omission of a trade name is unintentional. Note that some herbicides are non-selective, e.g. glyphosate, and will kill everything. Whenever possible, non-chemical methods of control are recommended before use of herbicides.

MYRTLE BENN FLORA AND FAUNA SANCTUARY IS NOW A REGISTERED LAND FOR WILDLIFE SITE.

Thanks to a joint project between the Shire of Kojonup and South West Catchments Council, the Myrtle Benn Flora and Fauna Sanctuary has been registered as a Land for Wildlife property through the Department of Conservation, Biodiversity and Attractions.

Land for Wildlife is a voluntary scheme to encourage and assist landholders to provide habitats for wildlife on their property.

Land for Wildlife at a glance:

- Its free:
There are no fees. The scheme recognises the significant contribution made by landholders.
- Its completely voluntary
Landholders make a personal commitment to the scheme. They can withdraw at any time they want to.
- There are no legal binds
Land for Wildlife status does not alter the legal status of the property in any way. It does not provide any right of public access or exclude multiple land use over the area.
- Its inclusive
There is no limit on size or primary land use, which could include:
  - > Farms and bush blocks
  - > Local council reserves and roadsides
  - > School grounds and golf courses.

Wildlife habitat on private land can:

- contribute to the long-term survival of native plants and animals.
- play a major role in sustainable agriculture. For example, remnant vegetation:
- helps control wind and water erosion
- assist in the management of salinity
- provides shade and shelter
- helps in maintaining natural means of controlling pests.
- provide stepping stones or corridors to link the landscape into a network that allows wildlife movement and genetic exchange between other bushland remnants or conservation reserves.

Other benefits include:

Professional advice:

The Land for Wildlife coordinator can offer you advice, such as:

- how to integrate wildlife habitat with other uses of private land to the benefit of the landholder and wildlife
- how to manage remnant bushland and the area's wildlife
- the ecological role and requirements of native plants and animals
- how to include wildlife aspects into revegetation schemes and landcare
- information about other forms of assistance and incentives that are available.

For more information, please contact your NRM/Landcare Officer, Jane Kowald, 98310291 or landcare@kojonup.wa.gov.au

WEEDY WATTLE REMOVAL BUSY BEE

When – Wednesday 11th April

Where – meet at the Old Rubbish Tip road entrance

What to Bring – water bottles, hats & sunscreen. Small chainsaws/handsaws and gloves. Shire will provide staff, wants, paint brushes and Glyphosate.

Who – any community members, service clubs and volunteers.

Landowners who live near the Myrtle Benn Reserve would be asked to monitor their properties for Eastern States Wattles germinating or mature trees and remove these to prevent further spread.

FLORA: CONSERVING OUR REMARKABLE TRIGGERPLANTS

by Juliet Wege. Reprinted in part from Western Wildlife December 2017, Issue 21, with approval.

The triggerplant genus Stylidium is rather extraordinary. Famed for its incredible pollination system in which a touch-sensitive column or 'trigger' transfers pollen to and from insects, this large and charismatic genus also packs a punch in the beauty stakes. Triggerplant flowers come in a dazzling assortment of colours, shapes and sizes, are variously adorned with hairs and small, intricate appendages. Furthermore, their growth forms are diverse, encompassing rosetted or stoloniferous (running) perennials, dwarf shrubs, climbers, stilt plants, cushion plants, geophytes (which die back over summer to grow again next year), and tiny annual herbs.

The genus is known to comprise at least 300 species, most of which are endemic to Australia, with Western Australia's remarkable south-west region home to the greatest diversity. In this region, triggerplants grow in the most habitats, and it is common for several different species to grow and flower together. Unfortunately, the south-west region is also where many triggerplants are the either poorly known or under severe threat in the wild.

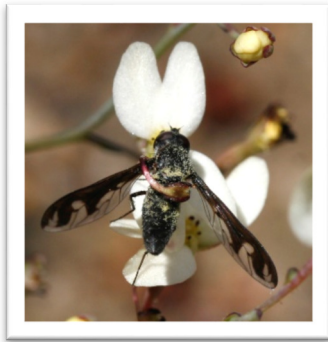

Triggerplant flowers are highly specialised. The male and female organs of the flower are fused together into a column that is usually bent at the labellum (the tiny, modified fifth petal). At the tip of the column are the reproductive structures, male anthers and the female stigma, the latter usually developing after the pollen is released from the anthers. When a visiting insect probes for nectar, the column rapidly rotates so the tip hits the insect, either dusting it with pollen or, if the stigma has developed, retrieving pollen that the insect may already be carrying.

Caption: Triggerplants know how to pack a punch – a native bee carrying a greenish pollen load gets thumped again by Styliidium squamosotuberosum. Photo: Juliet Wege.

Triggerplant pollination has been clocked at 15-30 milliseconds, making it one of the fastest plant movements known. The rapid firing motion is followed by a much slower resetting, which returns the column to its original position so that it can be retriggered.

Ongoing research at sites across the South West region is revealing that a wide variety of nectar-gathering insects pollinate triggerplants, including an especially large range of large and small bee-flies and solitary native bees. All are undeterred by the unique form of punishment dished out to them; they seem to be long-resigned to their role as pollen couriers, repeatedly visiting different flowers in search of sweet nectar, and thus the triggerplant succeeds in moving pollen from one plant to the next. Insects often visit more than one triggerplant species when gathering nectar and more than one pollen splodge may be able to be seen by the naked eye.

The really ingenious thing about triggerplant pollination is that different species of Styliidium can place pollen in different places on different kinds of pollinators and can retrieve pollen from the correct spot on each. The direction of column movement (whether ventral, lateral or dorsal) and the length and shape of the column help to dictate the precise part of the insect's head, thorax or abdomen that will be hit.

There are 99 Styliidium taxa listed on the Threatened and Priority Flora list for Western Australia, more than half of which have been discovered and named in the last 20 years. Most need further survey to better document their distribution and abundance, as well as any threats to their survival. Triggerplants can be challenging to survey; they are often difficult to find when sterile, usually have narrow flowering windows, and different species can be easily confused with one another. Not only do you need to be in the right place at the right time, but you need to know exactly what you're looking for! The best time to look for triggerplants is in spring so get out there and watch some closely, you'll be amazed at what you see!

SW ABORIGINAL RANGER PROGRAM

CONGRATULATIONS to the South West Aboriginal Land and Sea Council (SWALSC) who were successful in securing funding under the WA Government's $20-million, over five years Aboriginal Ranger Program.

As part of the program, SWALSC will employ 12 Aboriginal rangers, at least six of them will be female. Positions will be based in the southwest, from Jurien Bay to Albany.

The Aboriginal Ranger Program will teach Rangers to undertake land and sea management activities, including:

- biodiversity monitoring and research
- traditional knowledge transfer
- fire management
- feral animal and weed management
- cultural awareness and immersion experiences
- tourism management
- education programs and mentoring

KODJA PLACE

Sneak preview: Kojonup and Jack Cox to air on Destination WA, on Channel 9 in April. More information in next E-News.

- Reserve No – 22995 South East Of Transfer Station;
- Reserve No – 11301 South East Of Transfer Station;
- Reserve No - 22994 North End Of Myrtle Benn/South Of Collie Rd;
- Reserve No – 10691 Portion Of Farrah Reserve.

All burns will be liaised through the CBFCO, even though burns are planned, not all burns may proceed as they will be subject to weather.

SHOWGROUNDS DAM AND CATCHMENT

Work has commenced on cleaning the Showgrounds dam and catchment of trees and vegetation as well as addressing an erosion issue which will improve the inflow of water to the dam.

Water from the dam is used together with treated waste water from the Water Corporation for irrigation of the ovals at the Sporting Complex and is an invaluable resource particularly during the Summer period when treated waste water is in short supply.

REGULATORY SERVICES

PRESCRIBED BURNS

Please be advised that the Shire of Kojonup intends on doing prescribed burns before winter sets in, the reserves are as follows;

- Road Reserves – Portion Of Tunney Rd, Luz Rd, Mather Rd, Treasure Rd;
- Reserve No – 9589 Portion Of Old Motor Cross Track South Of Showgrounds;
- Reserve No – 14215 Katanning Rd Standpipe;

The excellent condition of Council's ovals over this Summer period is evidence of the direct benefit of utilising water from the Showgrounds dam catchment to supplement treated waste water for our irrigation program. Use of the Showgrounds dam water also reduces the dependency on use of potable scheme water for other than domestic use.

Work was also carried out late last year as stage one of this project in grading areas of the catchment from the dam will capture water runoff and further increase water intake to the dam. Another stage of the project is the installation of water monitoring equipment and a swipe card system at the new water stand pipe located at Stock Road which will be completed at the end of April.

Funding for the project was received from the Department of Water and Environment Regulation and Great Southern Development Commission together with Councils cash and in kind contribution.
